

A new chance

...or not? will Ritsu make it in time?

Von kawasemi

Kapitel 3: 3

Deep in his heart he already had realized it: He was helplessly in love with Takano Masamune... again. Crap! This was bad, it was totally wrong, he knew this and yet... No! It just wasn't possible, Takano was his boss and they had hurt each other badly in the past... Besides there was the fact that they both were men and that he already had a finance (though he didn't love An-chan that way). He shook off Takanos hand. "I'm sorry, could you please stop doing such things, it's annoying!" He was trying hard not to let his voice sound insecure. The apartment was getting closer... Takano snorted "Annoying?" He asked. "I love you, what's annoying about that?" 300m 'til they'd enter their home. "W-Well thank you, but no thank you..." 200m... "If you really don't like it, then why are you blushing that hard?" Takanos voice was calm and incredibly deep. It gave him goose pimples all over his body... he started running again. "I-I'm not... stop it!" 100m... Takano gave him a little smile, which almost made Ritsus heart stop. "And you know..." He stopped Ritsu all of sudden, his breath built little clouds in the cold air of the night as he came very close. "Just now I can feel your heart race as fast as mine." He whispered in his ear. 5m... "I-It's not. I told you stop imagine things!" He was almost crying... He shoved Takano and entered the building, Takano just one step behind him. Onodera hurried along the floor and stepped into the elevator. Hurry! Close! Please hurry! Takano stepped in as well, Onoderas head started aching. He would lose again... he would get swept away... "You know..." Takanos voice sounded very confident. "You really are a bad lyer." Ritsu's heart was beating like crazy. Hurry! "I-I'm NOT lying!" The doors opened. Ritsu ran along the floor until he reached his door. There he stopped, searching for his damn key. There it was! "You're really red, you know?" Takano chuckled "Sh-Shut up!" He opened the door just a small gap. "Tell me, who is it you're in love with?" His eyes looked at him with incredible intensity. Ritsu struggled and landed on Takano's chest, hearing his loud heartbeat... He pushed him away and tried to close the door, but Takano had already made his way in. Onodera's alarm bells started to ring. "Takano-san!" his voice was full of panic, he couldn't let that happen again. Takano started making himself a home. He put the booze at the table inside the living room, which was kinda messy. "I told you we'd drink tonight, so just give up." Crap. This was bad "Couldn't you just leave?" Onodera asked half-hearted, knowing that it was useless... "Nope." Takano sighed "I want to spend my free time with you and only with you..." his voice had a silky touch. Ritsu started feeling hot again..."

