

Not as planned 1.5 - Katsuki and Eijiro

A/B/O Verse

Von Puraido

Kapitel 6: Katsuki Bakugo + Eijiro Kirishima: +3 Years - Thailand Trip (2)

The pro heroes sat around the pool and waited for Izuku to come back. Ian made sure they all had something to drink. Some of the maids came outside and took their orders. Katsuki recognized the maid, Lacey.

They chatted a little about how life was going with Ian, Jesper, Malka, and Krista until Izuku came back ten minutes later. Fresh and clean he looked even better.

"Again I am sorry you guys had to wait." He apologized and sat next to Ochako and Katsuki.

"Ah, don't worry about it," Tenya said. "Keeping yourself fit is very important!"

"That's true!" Ochako added, she was still looking at Izuku's massive, muscular body. It didn't help that he wore a figure-hugging tank top, too.

Malka, Krista, Ian, and Jesper left after Izuku arrived to give them privacy.

"So, how is everyone doing?" Izuku asked. "Is there something new in Japan?"

And then they started. They talked about their agencies, the last hero rankings. Izuku congratulated them on the high rankings. He was really happy for them.

Eijiro and Mina talked about their agency with Tetsutetsu, he would run it alone while they were gone. They also talked about Trigger X, which caused Izuku to perk up. They had some drugs with a similar effect here too. He promised they could talk about it later.

Ochako, Tenya, Tsuyu, and Hanta explained a mission they once had. Illegal street racers that tried to get away with high-tuned motorcycles. They would even fire with weapons at them. But luckily they couldn't outrun Tenya.

To their surprise, Izuku scratched the back of his head and he confessed that he loved racing through the streets. It was something the guys did here regularly, he had won sometimes too.

"But wait, that's illegal!" Tenya looked at him.

"Well ... technically yeah, but we have some Cops that block the roads in the meantime. We don't do that in normal traffic" he said.

"Wait, the cops don't do anything about the street racing and even help you?" Present Mic chimed in.

"Yeah, they get a fair share of the money, so they turn a blind eye. Look, they all figured they can't stop street races, so they made agreements that they get informed before and they block the normal roads so others don't get hurt. That's really the best they can do here" Izuku shrugged.

"Huh ... never thought you would participate in something like that ..." Tenya mumbled.

"I changed a lot during the years I lived here. I had to adjust to that too."

Katsuki cleared his throat and continued with his agency. How he and Moruga basically tried to one-up one another all the time. Izuku chuckled and he was happy that Katsuki found someone he could basically see as a rival.

Eri told him, that she was super good at school and she had finally gotten a good grip on her quirk. That she played a lot with uncle Mirio and she adored Tamaki's baby, and that's why she wanted a little sibling too.

Izuku was happy to see her so lively and cheery, she seemed to have overcome her trauma pretty well.

Afterward, Izuku told them what he had done the past couple of years. In the beginning, he had worked as a bouncer in various clubs, as a handyman for various people, he had worked with the police too, but eventually, he followed Kairi to missions in war zones. He wanted to see it for himself. All the misery he was spared all his life because he grew up in one of the safest countries on the planet.

And what he saw, all the misery and sheer horror had massively changed him. He told them, that it had traumatized him at first, but now he went out frequently to save as many people as possible. While the other took care of the "elimination" of the enemies, he went in to save people, his quirks helped him a lot to get as many people out as possible. Just at the beginning of the year, they had been to Egypt, Africa, to keep the border safe. The shangonian army was advancing quickly but they could secure it for now. They had brought some refugees back to Thailand.

The others were shocked when he described the horrors of war, but they were happy that he used this opportunity to save humans, and not kill them, after all, he was still a hero at heart.

After about two hours of talking and catching up, Izuku asked, if they wanted to see the inside of the house. The others were excited, with the exception of maybe Momo they weren't used to such a big mansion.

"Well, it can be like a labyrinth sometimes," Izuku said. "I got lost so much in the beginning. If that happens to you, you can either ask one of the maids, or you can ask PAM." Izuku looked up. "Hello, PAM, could you show me the way to my room, please?"

"Of course, sir" A voice echoed from somewhere. And suddenly some green arrows appeared on the wall on a thin LED strip they showed the direction he had to go.

"Thank you, PAM." He said, before turning to the others. "You can ask her anything. Where is the bar, where is the dining room, where are the toilets. She will show you" he had a bright smile on his face.

"Damn, that is so cool! Really futuristic here!" Denki beamed.

"That's true! If it weren't for PAM, I might have gotten lost in here and a couple of years later they would have found my body in some cramped up space or something." He chuckled.

Suddenly, his mother appeared. "Oh, hey, all of you!" She seemed so happy.

Katsuki perked up when he saw Inko. She looked absolutely fantastic. She looked better than ever before. "Hey, auntie! How are you?!" he asked excitedly.

"Oh, Katsuki, I am doing so well! Living here is great! I took a job in the daycare here, and it's lovely! I am surrounded by pups every day, have my son back and live in this giant house ... It's like heaven!" She smiled brightly.

"Really, you work in the daycare here?" Toya asked.

"Yes, we got a bunch of more kids here, after their trip to Africa, they rescued a lot of little children, so they needed someone who helped out, and since I didn't have a job but I wanted to work, I offered my help."

"That is really noble!" Tenya beamed.

Izuku continued to show them the house, while they would stay in the Ridgway Hotel overnight, they could come to the actual house whenever they wanted. Izuku showed them his room. He had eventually moved out of the guest rooms to a spare room next to Ian's and Jesper's rooms. It was even bigger than his previous room.

"Damn, that's a lot of space!" Mina was stunned.

Ochako almost fainted. "That's bigger than my entire apartment before I got into UA" Ochako sounded out of breath.

Katsuki noticed the slight nest on his bed, he wondered, who had made that, he didn't think that this was Izuku's doing. But it wasn't his business to ask, so he inspected the rest of the room a little.

What was clear immediately, was that there was almost no All Might merch. It looked completely different from his room back in Japan.

Katsuki noticed some pictures on one wall. He walked over and looked at them. It showed Izuku, Jesper, Ian, and two unknown people in various locations. Some were on mountains, some were even underwater. They were on a ship and at a canyon, too. "You seem to travel a lot" he mentioned.

Izuku looked up, he was in the middle of showing Fumikage a sword he had bought in Europe. "Ah, yeah, we actually travel a lot. Robin and Lee are extreme athletes and they invited us on some trips. It's super fun. We were on the Mount Everest, and in Dubai, the Grand Canyon. Next year we plan a trip to the Death Valley and the Darvaza gas crater in Turkmenistan. I am so excited! I learned how to deep dive and mountain climbing, and snowboarding!"

"Wow, you're definitely coming around, Izuku," Eijiro said.

"But isn't that extremely dangerous too?" Momo asked.

"Of course it's dangerous, that's exactly why they are doing this. Those two absolutely don't care for their lives, they just want the most fun out of it."

"So, they would risk death for a little fun?" Koji asked.

"Jep, Robin nearly died two times during our trips. I could luckily save him with blackwhip. If I weren't there, he definitely would have died. But all he had to say was 'damn, that was fun!' I yelled at him, that he would be dead if I hadn't caught him, but he just shrugged and told me that this comes with the job. He's fully prepared to die every time he goes out there."

"Some people are nuts" Rikido mumbled.

"Yeah, definitely, I would never do so risky things" Denki shuddered.

"Is it really so much different from hero work? You put your life on the line too, or am I wrong?" Izuku asked. "Anyway, let's look at the rest of the house! I want to show you the pool on the roof!" He ushered them quickly out of his room.

"You're not wrong. Heroes do risk their lives" All Might mumbled.

They walked up to the roof and there was a giant pool. "The great thing is, from this pool, you can jump down to the pool below, and from that, you can jump down to the ground pool!" he explained excitedly.

"I don't want to know what would happen if one of the pools broke and all the water destroys the house, ribbit", Tsuyu mumbled.

"Well, PAM can emergency close the walls, so that most of the water wouldn't go into the main rooms of the house," Izuku explained.

"Oh, I want to see how far it goes down!" Eri said. Izuku lifted her up and they floated to the edge of the building. "Ohhh! It's so high!" she squeaked.

"Yeah, that's true."

"Woah, the look of the sea is so cool!" amazed by everything, Eri stared at the horizon.

Shota was a bit concerned, he knew that she was safe with Izuku, still, he couldn't stop worrying.

After their trip to the roof, they gathered in the main hall again. Some of them were tired from the trip so Izuku suggested that they could sleep for a while. They could visit the city tomorrow. The others agreed that it was probably a good idea and they made their way back to the hotel.

Katsuki would lay in his bed sometime later, it was damn comfortable, he had to admit, Toya was sitting next to him. "What's on your mind, Kats?" he asked, Hotaru was playing on the ground.

"Hm?" Katsuki had spaced out and only now he returned. "Oh, I just wondered who nested in Izuku's bed ..." he sighed, "I know I shouldn't think about that, but I am curious. I mean, it would be great if he had someone ..."

"It was a new smell. If it were from one of the maids I probably would know, but this is different, but it's from a woman" Toya mentioned.

Katsuki pouted a little. "Hey, what do you think, would he take us to the city? I don't want to sleep and I am not exhausted."

"I'm sure he would, let us ask him. Maybe some of the others want to go too?"

"Then let's go!"

They asked a few of the others, in the end, Eijiro, Ochako, Denki, Mina, Hitoshi, Kyoka, Shoto, and Momo joined them. They walked back to the hotel, Toya had Hotaru on his arm, he would leave her at the daycare. It was now around seven pm, so not too late to go out safely.

While Toya brought his daughter away, Katsuki asked. "Uh ... hey PAM, please show us Deku's ... uh, Izuku's room again." He felt a little bit weird just asking into the empty room.

"Of, course, sir" PAM answered, the arrows glowed up and the group followed them.

"I am so curious, how the city will be!" Denki said. He had wrapped his arm around Kyoka's, she nodded.

"Yes, me too. I was never out of Japan so I am intrigued" she had a bright smile too.

They stopped in front of Izuku's room and Katsuki knocked. It took a while before he answered. "Oh, hey, what can I do for you?" he asked.

"Uh, we were wondering if you could show us the city, we're not tired or anything," Katsuki asked. "Toya is coming too, he just brings Hotaru to the daycare" he added.

Izuku looked back into the room and he bit his bottom lip. "Yeah, sure, I can show you, Give me a second" he closed the door.

Katsuki raised his eyebrows. He could smell that someone was in the room with him ...

A couple of minutes later Izuku was ready, he had changed his outfit a bit, he wore a black shirt and jeans, and high leather boots. He wore black gloves for some reason, not gloves for winter or anything. "Well then, let's go" he gave them a smile.

Toya was waiting downstairs, he was chatting with an alpha girl she seemed really excited to see him.

"Ah, that is Elsa, Kairi's youngest daughter" Izuku mentioned.

"Oh, Izuku! You didn't tell me, that you have so many hot alpha friends! She looked at Eijiro, Hitoshi, and Shoto before her gaze wandered to Katsuki. "And I assume that's your precious Kacchan!"

"Elsa, stop it!" he pressed a hand on her mouth. Elsa chuckled.

"Make me" she mumbled under his hand.

Much to everyone's surprise, Izuku leaned down and 'kissed' her, he kissed the back of his hand, that was covering her mouth. "You're annoying." With that, he let go and walked away. "C'mon, let's go."

Elsa laughed and waved after them.

"What was that?" Shoto asked.

"Elsa, she's massively annoying" Izuku sighed.

They made their way over to the city. They were impressed with how big everything was! They saw massive skyscrapers huge stores, cafés, shopping centers, food shops on mass. None of them would have thought that this city had so much criminal activity.

"Hey, didn't you say, here are so many criminals and all?" Ochako asked.

"Well, it's still daylight, besides we are on the main street, most criminals stay away from here." He shrugged.

"Hey, how's Stella doing?" Toya asked.

"Oh, Stella is doing great! Her business is going good ... if that's a good thing or not I don't know, do you want to visit her?"

"Well, I mean, only if it's okay for the others? Or I can visit her later, I mean, I'm here for a week" Toya said.

"C'mon we are all adults here. There's nothing to it to visit the red light district." Izuku laughed.

"The what?" Ochako perked up.

"The red-light district. Stella's clinic is stationed there. Stella's the woman who removed the mating marks from me and Toya" he explained.

"But why is she in the red light district?" Kyoka asked.

"Because her mother owns some brothels there" Izuku answered. "Well, I guess, I can take you tomorrow, Toya. I have to make some errands in the morning anyway."

"No, no, we can definitely go," Mina said. "I am quite curious" she added.

Eventually, they decided to visit the red light district. The atmosphere changed immediately. One brothel or sex club or bar after another. Some of the establishments looked very expensive, some were more run down. Some had big windows where some of the workers were waiting and looking outside, smiling at them.

What was surprising to them was the equal amount of male and female workers. They had thought mostly women would work here, must be the clichés.

They walked through the streets and many of the ladies and gents greeted Izuku. Katsuki wondered, how much he was in such establishments, not that it was any of his business, but he was really curious.

"Oh, hey, babe!" One of the guys walked over to him, he was fairly muscular, he wore a skin-tight dress and a pink-colored wig. "Are you here to visit me?" He sounded hopeful.

Izuku chuckled. "Unfortunately not, Trish, I'm showing my friends around and Toya wants to visit Stella."

Trish sighed. "Damn, so sad, babe. But damn, you have some cute friends" he looked over to Eijiro and winked at him. Eijiro flashed him a short smile, he didn't want to be rude. "Oh, Toya, cutie! How are you?" Trish walked over to Toya and hugged him too.

"Ah, I'm fine. I am doing great now" Toya answered.

"That's good to hear, you look much better too!" Trish smiled brightly. "But, well, when you got no work for me, I'll head back, I hope I see you soon, babe" he winked at Izuku before he went back to the club he came from.

"Damn, you coming around" Katsuki mumbled.

"Haha, yeah, Trish is one of the omegas I sometimes go to. He's great" Izuku smirked.

They made their way over to a brothel called "Pussy". Some of the girls stood outside and presented themselves while they waited for customers.

Kyoka felt really shy, she tried to not look at the very revealing outfits of the girls, she grabbed Denki's arm for comfort.

"Oh, look who decided we are worth his time again," one of the girls said. "Where have you been, Izu? Don't tell me you went to those tramps at 'Bastard's'" she grimaced. "Here's the only place you get quality, I tell you!" The girl said.

Izuku chuckled. "But Crystal, you have only girls here, sometimes I'm not interested in girls," he told her. She gave him a look.

"Anyway, did you bring customers?" Her eyes scanned the others. "Oh, he's a cute one!" she walked over to Katsuki. "How about I give you a good time?" she asked in a flirty tone.

"Sorry, I'm gay. This wouldn't be a good time for me" he answered.

Crystal pouted. "Damn, you making my job hard" she sighed and walked back to the chair she sat in.

"Is Stella here?" Toya asked.

"Of course you want to see Stella. One moment, I'll look if she got time" with that Crystal left.

"So ... you hang out here a lot?" Ochako asked.

"Yes, not really much as a customer, but I work here as a bouncer some nights. Malka and Krista work here too, they recommended me as a bouncer."

Momo looked around. "It's really much different from what I am used to ..." She saw all the different omega that were presenting themselves here. It made her highly uncomfortable. She wondered if everyone here was doing this voluntarily or if there was a force behind it. "Are there only omega ... workers?" She asked.

"Oh, no, not really, further down there are clubs where you can find alpha sex workers too. But most of the alphas work rather as dominatrices or masters while omegas are usually the submissive part."

"Did you ever have an alpha partner?" Ochako asked.

Katsuki perked up at that question. Izuku tilted his head. "Yes, I had. Alpha partners are so much different from omega partners."

"Oh, how so?" Denki questioned.

"The struggle for the dominant position" he laughed. "It was a god damn fight and this was really fun. I liked that a lot."

Katsuki noted that in his head, so he liked fighting ... good to know ...

Eventually, Stella appeared. She was a giant woman, she had a very broad stature, she was in her fifties, had long bright pink backcombed hair, it looked a little bit like a lion's mane. She had massive amounts of makeup on her face, and she wore a blue dress with a bright blue feather stole. She screamed extravagant, in every aspect and the large jewelry only made it more prominent.

"Hm-m, Toya! Long time no see, baby!" she chuckled and walked over, she gave him a small kiss on the cheek. "You look good, baby, tell me, how have you been?" She flashed the others a smile too. "But first, I am Stella, I welcome you to 'Pussy's'."

"Oh, Stella, I've been doing great! My life is so much better now!" Toya told her excitedly.

"That is great to hear!" She blinked a few times and her fake lashes moved extremely. "Tell little old me, have you found happiness with a partner again?"

"Well ... not directly ... Let's say I am working on something ..." Toya chuckled.

Katsuki perked up when he heard that, Toya was seeing someone? He definitely wanted to know more about that later.

"Oh, that is fantastic, baby, keep me updated!" She smiled. Then she looked to the rest. She sniffed the air.

"Oh, my" she walked over to Katsuki and sniffed at him. "Baby, you have a delicate smell, burned sugar, I like it!"

"Uh ... thanks! My scent changed quite a lot" he murmured.

"Ah, I see" she looked at him, knowingly. "Anyway, Izu-baby, I know you have friends over, but I could need your help tomorrow. Help a lady out, would you?" She walked over to him and wrapped her arms around his neck.

"Haha, sure, I'll come over. I guess it won't take all day."

"Absolutely not, it's just a delivery. Nothing major and you are a lifesaver, baby!" She gave him a kiss on the cheek.

They talked for a few more minutes before they headed off. "She's like, really flirty" Ochako mumbled.

"Hm, oh yeah, she's always like this. But no, she's not a prostitute anymore. But she was in her younger days." He explained.

They walked through the city and got dinner at a noodle shop, the woman behind the counter also flirted with Deku. Katsuki was amazed at how many people liked Deku ...

They came back to the mansion. "Wanna join me for a few drinks, or do you want to head back?" Izuku asked.

"Is there a bar?" Kyoka asked.

"Of course!" Izuku showed them the way to the bar. Ian and Jay were there too, they greeted them, but then got back to their own conversation.

"You can drink as much as you want," Izuku said and he went up to the bar. The bartender was ready to take their orders.

"Really? Is that okay?" Ochako asked.

"Of course! This is Kairi's private bar, if you stick to the 'normal' stuff and don't take her own 'premium' stuff, everything is gucci."

They ordered some drinks and sat back on one of the large tables. They asked a couple of more questions about the city. Izuku told them, that he would show them more tomorrow, he could take them to the beach if they wanted. He definitely knew what they would do on his birthday though.

Eventually, they called it a night, they went back to the hotel and when Katsuki hit the mattress he immediately fell asleep, the alcohol helped with it a lot. He was curious what tomorrow would bring ...