

Not as planned 1.5 - Katsuki and Eijiro

A/B/O Verse

Von Puraido

Kapitel 17: Katsuki Bakugo + Eijiro Kirishima: +6 Years – The rest of the year (+Izuku)

Mae with Ryuu and Hiroto were with the police, they were escorted to the police station immediately when Koji informed them that something was wrong. Hiroto was so shocked to hear, that the Katsuki who was with him the past few days, wasn't really his Katsuki. He really hadn't noticed anything! It freaked him out. To hear now, that his Katsuki was in the ICU was so devastating. When they got the okay, they both made their way over to the hospital.

Eijiro was in a coma for three weeks, while they tried to get the poison out of him and to repair the damage the poison had done. They had the assistance of Dr. Reikotsu Chiwari, one of the greatest doctors of this century. He could heal absolutely anything with the exception of death – or himself, but his healing method was slow and draining, he couldn't heal Eijiro on the spot. Most of his cells had been destroyed and to repair those would take months, if not years. Mae couldn't believe the state that Eijiro was in.

Katsuki on the other hand was only for four days in an artificial coma, his arms were pretty burned from his own quirk and they needed a skin graft. He had a pretty severe concussion, and of course, the most critical thing was his leg. Rayna had bitten it clean off, everything down his knee was just gone. Not even Dr. Chiwari could do something about that, he couldn't regrow missing limbs.

Hiroto was sitting on a chair, next to Katsuki's bed and he was so relieved when his mate opened his eyes.

"Katsuki ..." carefully he grabbed his mate's hand. "How are you feeling?"

"H-Hiroto ..." Katsuki mumbled. "Are you alright ... Did ... the impostor do something to you?" Katsuki asked, he needed to know.

"No, no he did nothing. But this doesn't matter right now ... You need to get better first!"

Katsuki looked down and he saw that his leg was gone. He bit on his bottom lip. "It's gone ... it's really gone."

Hiroto stayed with Katsuki and he let him cry as much as he needed.

About a week later, the others were allowed to visit Katsuki. Michiko and the others came, his parents were of course allowed to come earlier, but Saeko visited too. Katsuki was still full-on meds and he felt a little funny.

"How are you feeling?" Saeko asked.

"Shitty ..." he answered, his voice was a bit slurred, he slowly started to regret his decision, to go with them. "I'm sorry, I ruined the mission ... but I couldn't let him kill Eijiro."

"Don't worry about it. It's over, Emaro, the Wendigo brothers and most of the fighters are dead or captured. We got what we wanted even though it turned out different ..."

"A-are there any casualties on our side?" he was scared to ask this.

"Denjiro Izo died, he was killed by Rayna ... A few of our other soldiers died too, some are missing limbs, but compared with the other side, we got lucky ... Of course Kazuya sees this differently ..." Saeko's voice was monotonous.

"This Emaro ... he had kids, you know?"

"Yes, most of them are in our custody now, he made cruel human experiments on them ... they are barely children anymore ..."

"He threatened to rape me if he got me after Eijiro was dead ... because I'm a prime omega ..." Katsuki puffed his cheeks a little.

"I'm sorry" Saeko murmured.

"Feels shitty. Besides, apparently, the Agents of Khaoz are back ... are you familiar with those?" He sighed in frustration.

"Yes ... I know the Agents of Khaoz. The leader, Khaoz, or Hiko, was in the same class as Koji ..."

Katsuki furrowed his brows. "What? This Hiko chick was in the same class as your brother? She attended school?" He leaned a little forward and tilted his head. He couldn't believe that such a psycho attended a normal school.

"Yes, and she was always a nutjob. She was always the best in the class, in every subject. She was the sweetest girl you could imagine and every alpha boy wanted to go out with her, of course, they thought she was an omega too. I met her, once or twice, she always seemed kinda suspicious to me."

"Damn, why is she so good at fooling people? Like how is that fair? Nobody's suspecting anything! Like c'mon girl give others a chance to look through you!" He puffed his cheeks again.

"Some people are just so damn charming that you would do anything for them. My brother was head over heels for her, but he didn't possess a fire quirk, that's why she was never interested." Saeko shrugged. "Turned out for the better anyway."

"Could you maybe help us to find her? We looked for the group for half a decade now, please ..." Katsuki looked at her with puppy eyes. He chuckled a little, his head was spinning slowly.

Saeko exhaled, he had his hair in a ponytail and it was waving around when he moved his head. "I could inform you if we find something, or ... I guess I could send the information directly to Moruga since you are out of commission for a while."

"Thanks ..." Katsuki could hear the grumpiness in Saeko's voice when he said Michiko's hero name. "Hey ... can I ask, why don't you like Moruga?"

"Why would you assume I don't like her?" Saeko raised his eyebrows.

"She said you don't like her because she addressed you as female" Katsuki mumbled.

"Urgh ..." Saeko grumbled. "She told you this old story? I don't give a fuck how you address me, I'm an alpha, I am both, male and female. It's true that I prefer male pronouns because my whole family is calling me that, but if stranger people on the street call me a 'she' I won't rip their heads off" Saeko growled.

"Oh, but why would she say something like this then?" Now Katsuki was confused.

Saeko's usually stern face got incredibly annoyed. He scratched the back of his head. "She's my ex."

Katsuki looked at him confused. "Your ex? Wow, I didn't expect this! Huh ... of course, this would make a meeting awkward ..." He raised his eyebrows a little.

Saeko clicked his tongue. "Guess so ..."

"I mean, I'm kinda the master in having awkward relationships with exes, so I totally get you." Katsuki sighed. "Damn, it's really been so long ... Hey, did you ever have the thought of going back to her? I mean, a couple of years back I would have jumped at Eijiro or Deku if they said so" He tilted his head.

"No, I have not thought about going back."

"Huh? Like, never ever? Not even after breaking up?"

"No."

"Damn, you cold! I guess she couldn't warm you enough with her quirk ..." Saeko looked at him with a stern look, he raised one eyebrow. "Did you break up or she?"

He exhaled and pinched the bridge of his nose. "Why are you even interested in this?"

"Oh, I just want to see how others handle breakups and meeting their exes and so on. If I see that someone's even worse at this than me, then I can feel better" he answered freely.

Saeko chuckled a little. "Okay? You are weird." He sighed. "It was a mutual breaking up. She used me to get over her trauma from being captured by Khaoz and I ... just wanted to try it for once. But romance and sex aren't my thing, that's why I wouldn't go back."

"But you still don't like her?"

"It's complicated. Anyway ... I keep you updated on Khaoz, but you should focus on getting better."

"Aye! ... You know, you make me feel like I should salute, but I really can't ..."

"Eh ... alright? It do be a little hard with arms in casts ..."

Saeko left shortly after. Hiroto entered the room instead and he stayed with Katsuki.

The months after the incident were hard; to see Eijiro in a state like this, he was bound to the bed and he was too weak to walk, it was just devastating. Mae tried her best to cheer him up, but nothing really worked.

The treatment was hard and draining, they brought some poison specialists into the game. Sasori and Kumo Dokuyaku weren't doctors, but their quirk was Poison, they could craft any poison on the planet and this also worked with antidotes. They eventually managed to get rid of the last bits of poison in Eijiro's body and they were working on something, that would help him to repair the damage. A healing potion basically, but this was no video game, and it was a very slow process. But still much faster than anything Dr. Chiwari could do.

They mixed him a potion that would give him more strength, it tasted awful but it did its job, the years of recovery were reduced to months.

Katsuki faced other problems, he was still too weak because of the severity of his injuries, so the doctors had to suppress his heat again. He knew that this would be absolutely terrible for him when he had his next heat ...

"I'm sorry I have to do this, but you are still too weak to go through the heat." Dr. Chiwari said. He was in his thirties, and much like Shoto he had split hair, his right side was black and the left was white. He had grey eyes and wore round glasses. He wore a white doctor's coat and yet, he looked a bit too fancy for Katsuki's taste.

"But I mean this is going to hurt so much already ... Can't you heal my leg faster?"

"Unfortunately I can't. I have already accelerated the healing process, you are familiar with Recovery Girl, no? My healing is not much different. If I were to heal you completely at once, you would most likely still die, because you got no energy left. I'm not a magic doctor, even though the media likes to portray me otherwise."

He injected Katsuki with the heat and quirk suppressant. The quirk suppressant was in case his quirk was to accidentally activate. After that, he uncovered Katsuki's leg and he started to unwrap the bandages. A white flame appeared in his palm and he carefully pressed his hand against the stump of Katsuki's leg. A prickle went through the healing tissue and his leg felt incredibly warm, but not as if it was actually burning. It was a good prickle. He lay back on the bed and closed his eyes.

"So, you really can't grow a leg?" Katsuki asked.

"Unfortunately not. If the leg was still available, I could re-attach it, but not grow a completely new one." He told him.

Katsuki sighed, and he wiggled his arms – still in casts – a little, he was impatient. The healing took about thirty minutes until it was enough for the day.

And this was the procedure every two days. It took way too long for him, this was one of the best doctors? Pah, he remembered Ian's blood healing him in like minutes. He couldn't re-grow limbs either though ...

He was in the hospital for over a month now and he hated it. He was so bored here, all the meds made his mind dizzy, that's why he never thought much about the things that had happened.

Everyone was visiting him regularly. Sometimes he was allowed to hobble over to Eijiro's room, but never for long. Both were still too weak. Eijiro sighed. "Damn, this really put a stop to our hero careers, huh?"

"I want to go back ..." Katsuki mumbled. "I am still not the number one hero ..."

"What about your leg?"

"I will get a prosthetic. Michiko is already in contact with the guy who made one for her. But my leg is not healed enough to be able to handle a prosthetic. It's so annoying. How about you?"

"Hm, the poison twins doing a good job. I don't know exactly what they do, but it helps. Sasori really tries his best to make this whole procedure as comfortable as possible. He always presents me with these new 'magic healing potions' he created. He makes like so many video game references. Kumo on the other hand is a bit more serious. But both are very friendly."

"That's good to hear." Katsuki smiled. "I was wondering half of the time if Ian or Jesper couldn't heal us faster. I'm really annoyed by now and I thought about calling them" he sighed.

"Why not try? Do you have their number?"

"Yeah, Ian gave it to me at one point. Let's see if his number is still the same ..."

It was and after a while, Ian answered. «Yeah?» Katsuki put him on speaker.

"Oh, hi, hey, haven't talked in a while, how are you doing?"

«Oh, great. Uh, what about you?» He sounded a bit confused, but Katsuki hadn't called him in years, so that was probably the reason.

"Actually, we – Eijiro and I – are in shitty positions ..." he started.

«Oh-oh, what did you do?»

"I lost a leg and Eijiro got poisoned, like on his whole body." Katsuki shortly explained.

«Yikes ... What are you guys doing?»

"Oh, just going into underground alpha supremacist clubs and try to save some omegas ... the usual" Eijiro said.

«Hm, tough ... But uh, why are you calling exactly?» Ian questioned.

"Well, you see ... the Doctor we both have has a healing quirk, but it's incredibly slow, so, we were wondering, if your blood couldn't help us?"

«Eeeh, so you just call me to ask for my blood?» He sounded a bit irritated.

"I know, it's a shitty thing to do ..."

Ian sighed. «Well, yeah, but I couldn't help you anyway. From the sounds of it, you are in the hospital for some time now, no?»

"That's right, over a month now ..."

«Than my blood wouldn't do much anyway.»

"Why is that? I thought it can heal anything?"

«It does, but only fresh wounds. It can't heal stuff that is already healed off. You should have called me immediately and there would have might been a chance of healing but not anymore» He explained.

"Damn, that sucks ..." Katsuki gritted his teeth.

«Well, yeah, but it is what it is ... Good recovery for you two ...»

"Thanks" Eijiro and Katsuki said.

"Uh, hey, another question, has Deku ever ... called you back or something?" Katsuki asked.

«He called me once, to tell me how great everything is, they have little lambs now. Other than that, no, he didn't.»

"Ah, alright ... thanks again."

«Yeah, sure, bye.»

The call ended and Katsuki sighed. "Damn, would have been too easy ..."

"Yeah, right ..." Eijiro sighed. He looked over to Katsuki, the blonde of his hair was coming through. "I really like the blonde better than the black ..." he murmured.

"Me too ..."

It was the end of April when Katsuki and Eijiro were finally released. They both had to take it slow, however. Eijiro would still get weekly visits from Sasori and Kumo for further treatment, but his body felt slowly but surely normal again.

Katsuki, on the other hand, was on edge, his heat had been suppressed again, this was the fourth time now, he really feared the upcoming heat in May.

Hiroto and Mae were waiting outside the hospital. Mae had Ryuu on her arm and the little boy squealed in happiness when he saw his father.

"So, do you want to go out and eat something? Finally no more hospital food!" Hiroto asked.

"Yeah, I really want some junk food right now ..." Katsuki enjoyed Hiroto's embrace, he really had missed his mate. "And damn, when we get home, I really want to make a nest. The damn hospital bed was so empty" he grimaced. Katsuki still enjoyed to nest, especially after stressful situations, so that he was not able to do so was very distressing for him.

Hiroto chuckled. "You can nest as much as you want" he gave him a kiss on the temple.

The food was damn delicious, but to be honest, everything tasted so much better than the shitty hospital food.

When Katsuki got home, he immediately hobbled to the bedroom and he started to rebuild the nest, he scented everything and Hiroto had to do that too.

Eijiro, on the other hand, lay in Mae's nest, his son was on his chest and she was next to him, it felt so perfect right now, he felt safe and secure for the first time in a long while.

Katsuki was in god damn pain! It was May and his heat came up, the pre-heat alone was fucking awful, he had already so much slick and he had to use toys because much to his dismay, Hiroto didn't have enough stamina to help Katsuki out as much as he needed it.

He mainly used the big dildo he had bought in Thailand so many years ago, he pushed the dildo as deep inside of him as possible and he activated the knot function. But this was not enough, he needed his mate to do the job, to ease the pain.

And then his real heat started and it was even more painful for him. "Hiro, it hurts! Please! Knot me already! I need it!" he cried.

Hiroto had finally entered his rut, this made it a little easier to keep up with Katsuki's stamina.

They fucked as much as they could, Katsuki was insatiable, and it hurt so much every time there was nothing inside of him.

"My alpha, please, give me your pups! Will you? I'm good! I'm a good omega" he purred. The only times he referred to himself voluntarily as an omega were during his heats.

"Yes, omega, I will, you were so good" Hiroto mumbled in between a few kisses.

He bloated Katsuki massively with his cum, even after two days he looked so swollen, but it was still not enough.

Eating and drinking kinda became a problem, Katsuki didn't want to consume anything and Hiroto had to force him to at least drink.

The heat took ten days, and after that, Katsuki was completely drained. He took two whole days to recover. Hiroto had to clean him up because he barely could move his limbs. "I'm never gonna suppress my heat again ..." Katsuki murmured sleepily.

"Oh, my poor baby" Hiroto kissed him a few more times.

Eijiro was kinda frustrated, his limbs were much better now, but he still had a somewhat numb feeling in them, and his hardening wouldn't work as it used to. His time was reduced and every use hurt, he feared that he would never ever be able again to harden completely.

Mae tried to convince him, that he didn't have to rush things, he was still recovering, but Eijiro was so impatient. He had still sessions with the poison twins and it definitely got better, but it was too slow for his liking.

Mae's dogs were constantly around Eijiro at this time, especially the wolf hybrids who got very protective of him and they growled at anyone who dared to come too close to him – except Mae and Ryuu.

June came around and Katsuki finally got his prosthetic leg. It was a strange feeling, the connection to his nerves hurt like hell. During the connection, he held Hiroto's hand and almost broke it.

He tried to walk a little but he couldn't put his weight on the leg just yet, that's why he went back to the wheelchair.

A few days later he had recovered enough to leave the hospital, Hiroto was pushing the wheelchair, they were going through a park, Katsuki didn't want to be trapped inside again. the weather was really nice. But suddenly they heard how someone called out to Hiroto.

Hiroto paled and turned around. "Oh, shit" he mumbled.

"What's wrong?" Katsuki asked.

"That's my mother and my father, what the fuck are they doing here?" He seemed so annoyed already.

Katsuki was so not prepared for this encounter ... Toshizo and Karen Okuda were suddenly in front of them.

"Son! Where have you been?" His mother had a very displeased tone in her voice. "You didn't call for years. It is unbelievable. How can you do this to your own mother?" She was right into Hiroto's face.

"Mother, I am almost twenty-six ... I don't have to report back to you."

"How dare you talk to me like that!" – "How dare you talk to your mother like that?" Both his parents said at the same time.

Katsuki felt definitely out of place, and he really wanted to go, he had seen bad parenting but this ...

"I tried to call you, but you never picked up the phone! I can't believe that you are this cruel to your mother. And what must I witness when I finally see my child again? He is serving a damn omega! What a disgrace!" She looked down at Katsuki, she squinted her eyes.

"Oi," Katsuki growled.

"Did we not tell you to never serve those disgraceful creatures?" his father chimed in.

"Shut the fuck up!" Hiroto said aggressively.

His mother gasped in fake shock. "How are you talking to me? I am your mother! Do you want to upset me?"

"How dare you two talk about my mate like this? He is not an omega! He's an alpha-omega! And he's a better alpha than you could ever be!"

"Mate? This one is your mate?!" Karen looked like she was about to explode.

"Fuck, yes! I am his mate!" Katsuki yelled back at her.

"HOW RUDE! But of course, I didn't expect anything less from a filthy, disabled omega ..."

Explosions detonated in Katsuki's hands. "The fuck are you talking?"

"Oh my god! Help, he is threatening me! Keep your pet on the leash! Or do you want him to hurt your poor, pregnant mother? Do you want to jeopardize the life of your sibling?"

"Unbelievable, omegas still don't know where their place is ..." Toshizo grumbled.

"Oh come on, mother, you are pregnant AGAIN? You are sixty-eight for fucks sake!" He gave her an annoyed look. "And you better stop talking bullshit about my mate. He is not an omega! And if you insult him any further-"

Bam!

Katsuki looked at Toshizo over his shoulder, he was mortified when he saw, how hard he had punched his son. "You will not talk to your mother like that, you ungrateful brat! We are your parents, we raised you, if she hadn't carried you inside of her, you wouldn't be here! It is your duty to listen to us!"

To Katsuki's amazement, Hiroto didn't shout, he had closed his eyes, and he in- and exhaled deeply a few times. Then he said in the calmest voice he could muster. "As I said, I'm turning twenty-six next week, I have no obligation to you anymore. You made clear what you think of my mate, whom I am deeply in love with and nothing you say could ever change that. I have no desire to be in contact with you two any longer, you are disrespecting me, you are disrespecting him, you are disrespecting omegas, you are a disgrace as alphas ... I do not wish to have any contact with you anymore." He turned back to Katsuki. "And now, if you excuse me, I and my mate will be going, we want to have a nice day."

He grabbed the handle of Katsuki's wheelchair and pushed him forward.

"I am not done with you! Where do you think you're going?" She screeched.

"Away from you. And look around you, mother, everyone is watching you, do you really want to be perceived like this in public?" he asked, raising an eyebrow.

Now his mother shut up and she looked around. The people in the park looked at them, and they whispered.

She hissed and stomped away. "The last word is not spoken, you ungrateful brat!" His father grumbled, he turned around and left too.

Hiroto pushed Katsuki away from the scene. "Are you okay?" Katsuki asked. He turned around as well as he could to look at his disturbed mate.

"Yeah, sorry, I need a minute to collect myself. Every encounter with them is gruesome."

"Hm, I understand now, why you didn't want me to meet them ..."

"She is fucking pregnant again ... I really can't believe that ..."

"The poor pup ..." Hiroto nodded at that, he sighed and they continued the walk.

Eijiro was on his way home, back from physical therapy when he bumped into Takeshi Kokasumi. "Oh, hey, Kirishima, how are you doing?" he asked.

"Oh, so-so, I'm better, but my quirk is ..." he shrugged. "I don't know, it's not like before."

"How is it now?"

"I can't keep it up for a long time, it really hurts if I overuse it. If that doesn't come back ... then I don't know if I can be a hero anymore ..."

"Yeah, that's really not good ..." Takeshi mumbled. He tilted his head a little. "I've noticed how you fight, you're a big tank-like brawler ... You keep your quirk up for as long as possible to tank every single hit, right?"

"That's right, All Might said to me once, that I'm better off with these techniques rather than small little tricks. I'm not really fast, so I channeled all my training in getting as hard as possible for as long as possible. But while I can get hard, I can't hold it for long ..."

Takeshi crossed his arms in front of his chest. "Then you have to change tactics again."

"But how?"

"Well, if you can't do long drawn out battles anymore you have to get faster and end them quickly. You could adapt a fighting style resembling more ours." Takeshi proposed. "The thing with our Carbon Shield is, we can go as hard as diamonds anytime, but if we were to be in this degree of hardness for a long time, we would be unable to move. So, in order to compensate for that, we trained to harden our body in an instant on the places we need it" he snapped his claw-like fingers once. "We trained that to such a degree that we could do it even while unconscious. This way you don't have to focus on the hardening too much and even when not hardened initially, you are still protected, and most of the time, no one would expect this."

Eijiro thought about that. "Yeah, that sounds good! This might help!" He grinned at Takeshi. The older alpha returned it.

"And when you got the instant hardening, you can work on your speed. The hardening process makes you slow. It is basically like armor, with a twenty-kilo armor you won't be as fast as if you just wore normal clothes."

"Yeah, that makes sense! Thanks for the help!" Eijiro said enthusiastically.

"No problem, man, if you want, I can help you with the training. If Tetsutetsu wants to, he can join too."

"Oh really? Thank you so much, man! I'll tell him!"

After that talk, Eijiro and Tetsutetsu met up with Takeshi more frequently, they both could benefit from the training.

They had to start slowly, however. Eijiro was still not in the best form, and he needed way too many breaks – for his liking.

Mae was concerned that he overexerted himself with too much training. But he always said that it was fine, he needed to get back on track.

Hiroto and Katsuki were for Hiroto's birthday over at the Bakugo house. Mitsuki and Masaru did their best to surprise him. They had heard from the meeting with his parents from Katsuki.

They showered him with love and affection, this overwhelmed Hiroto so much to the point of tears. He never really had this much of a birthday party, due to the sheer number of children, his parents never bothered to organize birthday parties.

"You will always be a part of our family," Mitsuki said with a smile. "You are so good to our son, we know how he can be sometimes." She chuckled.

Katsuki let out a 'tch' he blushed a little while he took Hiroto's hand.

"Yes, you can always come to us, if there is something you need!" Masaru added.

"Thank you so much! That means a lot to me!" Hiroto cried.

Katsuki felt nervous and on edge for the past couple of days. While Hiroto was at work, he hobbled to the pharmacy, he could walk slightly better now, with crutches. He bought some stuff from the pharmacy and made his way back home.

He was sitting on the toilet while he waited for the test to finish up and show him the results. He tripped with his fingers on his thighs, which were the longest 90 seconds of his life.

Katsuki gulped when he looked at the blue color of the test. "Wow ... fuck" he mumbled. He exhaled and scratched the back of his head. Positive ...

He really had suspected it, the test showed that he was over a month pregnant now, but he wasn't really showing anything yet, so had he kind of ignored it.

The blonde cursed slightly, he totally forgot that his birth control had run out. What should he do now? He still hadn't really talked about having children with Hiroto.

One hour later, he sat in the Todoroki Residence, together with Toya, Shoto, and Momo, she had given birth to twin girls in April, they were called Enko and Yuki.

"So, how are you doing, Katsuki?" Momo asked, she had one pup on the arm, while Katsuki had the other, he purred slightly and rocked her in his arms.

"Oh, well I ... uh," he stuttered, "I'm pregnant ..." he mumbled.

"Oh my god! Congratulations!" Momo cheered.

"Damn, congrats" Toya joined.

"Yeah, congratulations," Shoto said too. "Does Hiroto know about it, yet?"

"No, he's still working, and well ... I don't really know what to do." Katsuki sighed.

"What do you mean?" Toya asked.

"I mean, we haven't talked about having pups, and I recently met his parents ... and let me tell you, they are nutjobs and his mom is pregnant again at sixty-eight ... so I'm a bit scared, I don't know how he will react ..."

"Ouch, that's hard, sixty-eight ..." Shoto exhaled shocked.

"Yeah, they are racist alpha supremacists. And they constantly called me omega. I don't like them."

"Understandable. They sound crazy already" Toya mumbled.

"Do you want to keep the baby?" Momo asked.

"I mean ... yeah, I want children ... It's a bit much at the moment, I mean, I barely recovered and I actually wanted to start extended physical therapy so I can get back to work, but now I'm unable to ... It's a bit annoying that it has to happen now ..." he had placed a hand on his stomach. He could feel a very slight bulge already, but it wasn't really visible.

"Yeah, I guess that this is a bit overwhelming" Momo murmured. "But hey, it could also be a good sign, you haven't returned yet, so it is not like you return for a few months, realize you're pregnant, and then disappear again. Now you can take one long break and then return."

"But that would be in a couple of years! I wouldn't be able to leave the pup alone immediately" Katsuki mentioned.

"Hm, maybe you can arrange something with Hiroto," Toya added.

"Yeah, I really have to talk to him about that ... But what if he doesn't want a child?"

"Oh, sweetie, I'm sure he wants a pup with you!" Momo tried to encourage him. She smiled brightly and released some calming, happy pheromones.

"I hope so ..." Katsuki sighed. "Anyway, what's up in the agency? News on the AOK?"

"Nah, not really" Toya answered. "Saeko is showing up sometimes, he's kinda scary ... Kuroko has the biggest shit-eating grin on her face, every time he sees him and Michiko stare at each other, you can almost see lightning coming off of their eyes ...”

Katsuki raised his eyebrows. “Huh, I still can’t really comprehend, that those two were dating ...”

“Yeah, Sougo was surprised too, not even he knew ...” Toya murmured.

“Hey, do you plan on having pups with Sougo, anytime soon?” Katsuki questioned.

“Hmmm, no, not really, I don’t feel ready for that at the moment. My last pregnancy was kinda traumatizing after all ...”

“Well, can’t argue with that.”

They talked for a while before Shoto offered to bring Katsuki home, he took the offer gladly. When he got back, Hiroto was already at home.

Katsuki said goodbye to Shoto and he entered his apartment. “Hey, babe” he greeted his mate.

“Hey, Katsuki, oh, were you at the Todoroki residence?” He asked.

“Yeah ... uh, listen, we need to talk” he cleared his throat. Hiroto raised his eyebrows and looked at him expectantly.

“Uhm, damn, this is a bit harder than I thought” Katsuki scratched the back of his head. “Well, here goes nothing. I am pregnant ...” He blurted out.

Hiroto gasped and looked at him with wide eyes. “Come again?”

“I am pregnant! I missed my birth control shot, and during my heat in May I got pregnant ...” he repeated.

Hiroto’s jaw dropped and he blinked a few times. Katsuki looked at him concerned. “Say something ... d-do you want a child with me?” His voice sounded higher and insecure.

Hiroto exhaled, still overwhelmed. “Yes! Of course, Katsuki, of course, I want a child with you! I love children! I just need a few minutes to process this!”

“Ah, okay, yeah, take your time ...” Katsuki smiled and nodded. At least Hiroto was not against the idea of having pups with him.

After a few minutes, Hiroto stood up and he hugged Katsuki, he gave him a deep kiss. “I love you, Katsuki, and I am so happy, that you and I going to be parents!”

“Yeah, me too!” They kissed a bit more.

“Well, but what about your hero career?” Hiroto asked after a while.

"I don't know, I mean, I am really excited now, for the pregnancy, but I really don't want to quit being a hero ..." Katsuki confessed. "I'd like to go back to work as soon as possible, I'm missing out so much already."

Hiroto sat opposite of Katsuki, by now he had made dinner for them. "Hm, if you want, I could stay at home. I could take a break as a teacher to stay with the pup."

Katsuki's eyes widened. "You would really do that?"

"Yes, of course! Getting back into a school career is easier than getting back into heroics, I'd assume." He chuckled.

"Thank you so much! I really don't know how to thank you for that!" Katsuki beamed over the whole face.

Hiroto laughed too when he saw his happy mate. "Don't worry, babe, I'd do anything for you!" He stood up and moved over to Katsuki and he hugged him tightly. Katsuki returned the hug, still a huge grin on his face.

They were sitting on the couch, opposite of Katsuki's parents, Katsuki was giddy and overjoyed. "Mom, Dad, I'm pregnant!" he announced.

Mitsuki gasped, she put her hands in front of her mouth. "Is that real? You're having a pup?"

"Oh my goodness!" Masaru exclaimed.

"Haha, yeah, it is true! We're going to be parents!" Katsuki repeated. He had grabbed Hiroto's hand and moved a little up and down in excitement.

"Those are wonderful news, I'm so happy for you two!" Mitsuki beamed too.

"My congratulations! You're going to be great parents!" Masaru added.

"Thank you so much" Hiroto grinned. Katsuki nodded.

Eijiro and Tetsutetsu were training with Takeshi at the moment, it was still so draining for Eijiro, he was so frustrated. "I just can't do it ... I'm not fast enough!" he grumbled.

"Yet" Takeshi added.

Eijiro looked up to him. "What?"

"You are not fast enough yet, you will get to it, or did you have perfect control over your quirk from the get-go? No, I don't think so, just don't give up, that's not very manly!"

"Yeah, he's right, you can do it, you just need more patience!" Tetsutetsu chimed in, he tried to cheer him up too.

"Yep, that's right, it's just another challenge to overcome, you can do it" Takeshi lifted his arms and flexed a little. "You got strong the first time, you can get strong a second time! Just believe in yourself!"

Eijiro had a lump in his throat, but he nodded. "Yeah, you're right ... I can't give up" he exhaled shakily before he got up again and continued the training.

He was done for the day, when he got home, Mae and Ryuu weren't in the house, that's why he just showered and fell face-first into the nest. He gritted his teeth and inhaled deeply Mae's scent.

Eijiro really wished, he could get out of this bad mindset, but he couldn't, he knew that he needed to be more patient, but he was unable to take a step back, he wanted to be better now!

Frustrated with the world he pulled the blankets over himself, tears stung in his eyes, phantom pain hit him. He could feel the thorns on his skin again. How they punctured his chest, how they filled him up with the poison. His chest started to itch, where the big, cross-shaped scar was.

Eijiro was startled, when suddenly his phone rang, he tried to get his tears under control, before he looked at the display. To his shock it was Hitomi! He answered the phone.

"Hey" he sniffed.

«Eijiro, are you alright?» she asked immediately. «I had this terrible, dreadful feeling for the last couple of weeks, did something happen?» She asked.

It felt so good to hear her voice, realization hit him like a truck, god, he missed her so much! "No, nothing is alright," he told her what had happened to him at the beginning of the year, and how he still struggled to get back on track. She listened to him carefully.

"And now I just can't get back into it, I still struggle so much! Physical therapy is doing nothing, and while the training with Takeshi is doing something, it's not enough!" More tears were flowing down, and he could barely speak coherent sentences.

«I understand. Yes, there really happened a lot to you. I can understand that this must be so frustrating to you» She sounded really concerned. «But Eijiro, there is nothing wrong with taking it a bit slower. Your body is telling you, that it's not the time yet.

You almost died down there, it's nothing wrong with you taking a break. You always put your life on the line for others, but sometimes you need to be a bit selfish too and say no. You need to get better first before you can help others! What good would it be, when you force yourself out there but break down after a villain or two. I know that it is sometimes really hard to align your thoughts with what your body actually needs, I've been through that too. It's hard for people like us, to take a breather.»

“Yeah, you're right ... but how do I tell myself that it's okay to step back? What do I do?”

«Maybe you could take a cure? Maybe with your girlfriend? If you get out for a few weeks with your family, this might help?» She suggested.

Eijiro exhaled. “Yeah, maybe ... I will have to talk to her ...” His mind was circling around this idea, Izuku had taken a breather too, maybe it really helped?

They talked for a while and Eijiro told her about his son, she was happy to hear that. She had also found someone, she told him about her boyfriend too. It was a weird conversation but strangely, even though he missed her so much at the moment, he felt fine, when she talked about her boyfriend, she was safe and secure, that was all that mattered.

When Mae came back, Eijiro was still buried inside the nest. He had no energy left. “Oh, I think someone needs a baby hug” Mae walked over to him, with Ryuu and Eijiro sat up to take his son.

He leaned against her while cradling the baby. “Thanks, that's what I needed.”

She smiled at him and stroked through his hair. “What's on your mind?” She asked after a while.

Eijiro exhaled. “Well, I thought about doing a cure for a few weeks. Maybe it will help me to calm down. I wanted to ask if you want to come along?”

She thought about it for a while. “Yeah, the idea is good! It might really help you!” She smiled at him and gave him a kiss.

Eijiro cuddled closer to her, he listened to her purring while he drifted off into sleep.

In July it was finally the time to go on the cure, they would travel to Hokkaido for the entire month. They would go to a remote place, so Eijiro could really calm down, the nearest town was thirty minutes away.

The weather was great and even though in the beginning it was very hard for him to just relax, he eventually managed.

They had much time for themselves since it was just the three of them plus the dogs. They walked into the woods a lot, there was a beautiful lake.

Whenever Ryuu was asleep, they had time for each other, Mae took great care of Eijiro. He especially like it, when she massaged the areas where his scars were. His chest felt sometimes so tight and it was so relaxing.

He rumbled every time she did that, it helped his racing mind to just shut the fuck up for a moment and to enjoy the moment.

Ryuu seemed to like it here too, he babbled continuously and made happy toddler sounds. The dogs were guarding him during the day, too, and Kiba would always alarm them if something was wrong.

It was a piece of heaven, and Eijiro forgot about his stress at home.

Katsuki was very happy, he was sitting in the office, doing some desk work while chatting with Toya. It was the End of July and Katsuki started to get bigger now. The other heroes were out on the field, that's why they had time to talk.

"I mean, can you believe it? Hawks is still trying to make contact" Toya sounded so annoyed. "He even showed up with the twins."

"No way!" Katsuki couldn't believe, that Hawks still tried to get Toya back.

"Yes, way! Luckily mom took care of him, damn ... I never thought, I would say that, but mom is amazing. She thrived so much these past years!"

"Yeah, I've noticed! She looks really good too" Katsuki smiled.

"That's true, my relationship with her is better than ever before. I'm thankful that she could forgive me ..."

"Yeah, mothers are amazing ..." Katsuki mumbled. "So, how is Hotaru doing in school?"

"She's doing fantastic, she's a little sunshine and she has a lot of friends," Toya told him proudly. "She gets little stars all the time" he chuckled.

"Damn, that's great to hear. I'm happy for you, that everything worked out so good!" Katsuki barely remembered the time, in which Toya was still Dabi, he thought for a second about the disastrous summer camp where he had kidnapped him. How scary all of this was. He was glad that Toya got another chance in life, he really deserved it.

"Me too, you know, I never thought I deserved a chance like this. I ruined a bunch of lives so why should I get the chance of a new one? But I am thankful that it is the way it is now. Who knows what would have become of me, if I hadn't chosen my daughter over the League of Villains."

"Apropos, League, did you ever hear of the others again? Or ... him?"

Toya puffed his cheeks. "Well, Tartarus contacted me, Shigaraki begged to see me, but I still am not sure if I want to see him again. But apparently, he's going crazy, because of the broken bond mark. They won't give him a scrubbing. I mean, it's kinda cruel to not do that, but well, it's kinda deserved." He sighed. "I have no real idea what the others are doing, however. But I hope they made something out of themselves."

"Yeah ... true, they got a new chance after all." Katsuki nodded.

"I hope that Toga got over Twice's death, they were really close." Toya sighed.

Katsuki came from the doctor, ultrasound picture in hand, he looked at it and a huge smile appeared on his face. Everything was fine with his baby girl, and this made him happy.

He met up with Denki. Kyoka and Hitoshi were at work. Denki was super chipper about Katsuki's pregnancy. He chirped all the time and he was delighted when he was allowed to touch the belly. There weren't kicks or something yet, but he could still sense the pup inside. It was purely magical.

Eijiro came back in August and he felt good for the first time in a long while. He was well-rested and his mind was clearer now. He felt fit enough to start his training slowly. He hadn't heard of Katsuki's pregnancy yet, so he was massively surprised. They went over to visit him.

Katsuki was overjoyed that Eijiro was back. "How are you doing, Eijiro?" he asked.

"Oh, I'm doing great now, I guess that was something I really needed." He had a big smile on his face. "And you are pregnant! That's wonderful!" He felt really happy, Katsuki let out some pheromones and it made him feel really good.

"I'm happy for you, and yes, I am, thanks" Katsuki smiled.

"Will you go on maternity leave then?" Eijiro wanted to know.

"No, Hiroto will stay at home. After birth, I will probably rest for a month longer before I start training again. I want to go back too." He explained.

"Yeah, understandable. But make sure to take enough time off for your child."

"Of course I will! I'm still not that fit anyway, so I don't want to overdo it."

"Very reasonable" Eijiro chuckled. "You're different than me."

"It's kinda reversed somehow, back in school I would have said you are more patient than me."

"True that. Damn, it's been really long, huh?" Eijiro sighed and leaned his head back.

"Yes ... that's true, the years passed so quickly ..."

"I always kinda thought you and I and Izuku would have an agency together, or work at least close next to each other," Eijiro mumbled.

"Me too, ... huh, weird how things turn out" absentmindedly he rubbed over his belly.

"True that ..."

The pregnancy went really well. Katsuki didn't have much trouble, here and there a little bit of sickness, but not that severe. What annoyed him however was the fact that he had to pee a lot. It drove him crazy to get up like five times an hour, especially at night.

He met up with the girls in September, they wanted to go shopping with him. Except for Mina and Momo the others hadn't seen him while pregnant.

Ochako was super excited to see him. "Ohh, baby bump! Can I touch it, please?" She looked at him with big round eyes. She then seemed to realize that she acted a bit over the top. "I'm sorry, I'm just in baby fever. We recently visited a bunch of kindergarteners and it was so darn adorable" she chirped happily.

Katsuki laughed and grabbed her hand and put it on his belly. "I get you, especially since you are freshly mated?" He raised an eyebrow.

Ochako blushed. "Yeah, Tenya and I dated for some time and after the trip to the kindergarten I just couldn't take it anymore" She smiled brightly.

"About time this happened, ribbit," Tsuyu said.

"Congrats" Katsuki said. The others congratulated her too.

They got some sweet baby products for Katsuki, Momo was always next to him and she hooked her arm under his. "By the way, are you two going to marry officially?" she asked.

"Oh, we haven't talked about that, but I really want to marry, well ... when I'm not pregnant anymore."

"Do you wait for him to propose?" Toru questioned.

"Hm, if he takes too long, I will do it myself for sure!" Katsuki grinned.

They passed a lounge and Mina looked at the sign. "Hey, this might be weird, but ... uh, do you all remember, back in school, that we had sometimes like cuddle sessions?" She asked the others.

"Yes, I do, why do you ask?" Kyoka turned towards her.

"I mean, here's an omega lounge, and they have free spaces ... And I don't know, I feel kinda ... cuddly ..." she blushed a little, even though it was hard to see on her pink cheeks.

The others stared at her for a little while. "Well, I got no problem with that" Ochako said after thinking about it.

"Me neither" Momo smiled.

"But what about Katsuki? Do you want to? I mean, you don't identify as omega anymore" Kyoka threw in.

"You kidding? I still love to cuddle! It's been so long" he chuckled.

"Yay!" Mina cheered. Tsuyu and Toru were on board too and they made their way inside.

Omega lounges were specifically for omegas, they were safe havens where they could relax and meet up with other omegas, mostly for cuddling. Usually, alphas weren't allowed inside, but since Katsuki was originally an omega, he was an exception.

They got a room for two hours and they got fluffy spare clothing to change into, they had all sorts of blankets, pillows, and plushies in the rooms and quickly they built a comforting nest.

After that Katsuki crawled in the middle of the nest. He wore, like the others, a full-on plush pajama. The girls surrounded him, Ochako and Mina were on his left side, Ochako was higher up, while Mina was at the height of his belly, Tsuyu was somewhere in between them, but not directly on top of Katsuki.

Momo, Kyoka, and Toru were on his right side, in a similar fashion as the other three. Momo was close to his face, while Kyoka was somewhere next to his belly, and Toru somewhere in between.

And then they just lay there and cuddled, while soft music was playing in the background, other than that there was the constant purring of all seven of them. Katsuki had his eyes closed, his arms were occupied by Momo and Ochako. He could feel how different hands were rubbing carefully over his baby bump, he intensified his purring, it was honestly a mix of purring and rumbling.

For the next two hours, it was so damn peaceful, the pup inside of him was peaceful too, she let him catch a little break. He realized that he had missed those cuddle sessions a little bit, he smiled happily while he listened to the purring of the others. They released calming scents and it was just this beautiful mix. For a moment he knew what real peace was.

The two hours were over eventually and a bit reluctant they all got up. "Waah, this was good! We should do that again sometime! We should invite Denki too, then all the omegas – and former omegas are together" Mina said.

"Yeah, we could definitely do that again!" Ochako chirped.

"True, I got nothing against that" Katsuki smiled.

They decided that they could really do that once a month. They agreed to meet up next month again. After that, the group continued their shopping.

Hiroto chuffed when Katsuki came back. He smelled the omegas on him. "Oh, did you have fun?" He asked.

"Yeah, I had a cuddle session with them. We used to do that all the time in school, but at one point I wasn't invited anymore after things went sour. This was the first time in years I had something like that" he explained.

"Haha, good for you, I'm glad you had a nice time!" Hiroto hugged him and planted kisses on his mate's face.

Eijiro and Takeshi were training again, they were still somewhat focused on getting Eijiro's quirk fit again. But in the in-between, they practiced some martial arts. Eijiro needed to learn that too, after all.

Today they were alone, Tetsutetsu had to work outside with Mina, and Eijiro's back hit the mattress for the umpteenth time, he groaned aloud, Takeshi pinned him down. "You are kinda unfocused today. Should we take a break?" The other alpha asked. While he got up and gave Eijiro a hand.

The redhead grabbed it and got up too. He looked at their intertwined hands for some time, when suddenly weird feelings bubbled up inside of him. He remembered the chilly night air and how his naked back hit the cold grass. He promptly shook his head. "No, everything is okay." He forced a smile on his face.

Takeshi tilted his head and patted him on the back. "Don't overdo it, okay?"

"Yeah, promise."

When he was in the locker room after the training, he was so on edge. Fuck, was he entering his rut or what? Why was he so aroused? He hopped under the shower and let cold water run over his body in the hopes to get rid of his erection, this was damn uncomfortable. Especially because he didn't know what had triggered this.

He leaned his head against the cold wall of the shower, he pressed a hand on his mouth to stifle all sounds, while he quickly jerked himself off, not even the cold water did the trick.

Why the fuck did he get random boners when he was tossed around by another alpha? And why the fuck did those memories come up again?

He softly moaned when he came and his erection finally went down. His breathing was quicker while he tried to calm down again. He stayed for a few more moments in the shower, before he turned off the water and left. He dried himself off and quickly changed back into his clothes.

Still totally confused and overwhelmed he made his way home. He needed some toddler cuddles to get the disturbing thoughts out of his head!

Mae had one of her friends over, when Eijiro came home, Marylinn was her name, but she went mostly by Mary. "Oh hello!" she greeted him.

"Hey, Mary" Eijiro smiled, he saw that Mae had Ryu on the arm. "Uh, I won't bother you two, but uh, could I take Ryu with me?" he asked.

Mae looked up. "Sure!" she gave him his son. "Is everything okay?"

"Now it is! Uh, well, I'll be in bed, I need some toddler cuddles" he walked out of the room.

Mary chuckled a little. "I guess something did happen."

"Yeah, he was a bit on edge." Mae sighed. "Oh well, I'm sure he will talk about it when he's ready."

Eijiro sat back in the nest, his son in his lap, he played some peek-a-boo first, Ryu giggled and babbled all the time, Eijiro cheered up when he heard the high voice of his son.

When Ryu got tired he lay back and had him again on his chest, it was still the best damn feeling.

When Mae entered the room, she saw both of them sleeping soundly. She stifled her laugh and carefully plucked Ryu from Eijiro's arms and brought him to bed before she joined Eijiro.

This October Hotaru wanted to go as a vampire, Toya was joined by Sougo, Katsuki, and Hiroto, they would have a little party. Katsuki and Hiroto had wolf ears on their heads, Sougo was – true to his hero persona – a killer bunny, while Toya went full-on zombie.

Hotaru had some candy already and they were now approaching a house, Hotaru went to the door, while the adults waited a bit away from the house. She knocked and when the door opened, she was face to face with another vampire woman, she also had some kind of animal ears on her head, but Katsuki couldn't tell if those were real or fake. "Trick or treat!" She said and held her bag open.

"Oh, what a lovely costume! Here you go, kiddo" the woman said. Hotaru let out a thankful chirp.

"Thanks!" With that, she returned to her dad and the rest.

When they got back home Hotaru's bag was filled with candy and she was very happy about that. She was allowed to eat a few pieces before she had to go to bed.

The adults sat in the living room, they were joined by Momo and Shoto too, they had a very fun evening and they talked a lot.

At the end of November, Hiroto's rut came up, Katsuki was in a warm heat to help him a little, they were next to each other. Hiroto's head was on Katsuki's belly and he could feel the presence of his pup inside of his mate. Katsuki made again sounds that were a mix between purring and rumbling. He felt like he was in paradise again.

The Hero Billboard Charts were not much different from the year before, but Endeavor was down to Number 5, while Tenya was now on 4. Katsuki and Eijiro lost one place each, but they were kinda surprised that they were still so high up since they hadn't been active most of the year.

Eijiro's rut in December was so awkward and strange, his rut-ridden brain couldn't stop thinking of the other alpha, why the fuck was it like that when his girlfriend was right here with him?

In December Katsuki was shopping again, he had to buy something very special, he was in the jewelry shop and looked for a ring, he was looking down on some of the rings. While he tried to find the perfect ring, he absent-mindedly drummed with his fingers on his swollen belly.

In the end, he found the perfect ring and he left the store happily.

Christmas Dinner with his parents was great, and after that, they were sitting in the living room, Mitsuki and Masaru had some presents for them, mostly for the baby, which was very appreciated.

And then it was time that they exchanged presents, Katsuki was very excited, he watched how Hiroto opened the ring box, he looked at the ring with wide eyes. "Do you want to marry me?" Katsuki asked.

Hiroto started to chuckle and he covered his face with his hand. It took a few seconds for him to calm down. "Open your present first," he said, still widely smiling. Katsuki raised his eyebrows and did what he was told. Masaru and Mitsuki watched them, both with wide smiles.

"Oh, you!" Katsuki mumbled when he discovered a ring, he started to laugh too. "So this answers my question, huh?"

Hiroto took the ring box out of Katsuki's hand got on one knee in front of him. "My answer is yes, do you want to marry me too?"

"Of course!" Katsuki pulled him up and they kissed. They celebrated the engagement a little more.

This New Year, Katsuki stayed at home with Hiroto, he was highly pregnant, and climbing up a mountain was probably not the best idea. To his surprise, the Moruga Agency came down relatively quickly to celebrate with them. They congratulated them on the engagement too. Overall it was a very good start to the New Year.

Eijiro's and Mae's family had gathered for New Year and he was sitting in between all the dogs in the giant house, he had Ryuu on his lap who was playing with a puppy. Eijiro was still out of his mind because this was not what he wanted to do at the moment. He felt increasingly worse, the more he thought about the other alpha.

To his luck, the others were entertaining each other and didn't pay much attention to him, he wondered what kind of sick joke his mind was playing him, he hoped it would go away.

+++

Izuku and Lucia increased their sexual activities after they had decided to get pregnant, of course, only when Kieran was not home. Especially their ruts were intense.

For the farm life, he trained his blackwhip quirk to be even more efficient. He could cut his work time even shorter with that.

Lucia was at the doctor's office to get fertility boosters again, she figured that she would need them. It was really hard for alpha females to get pregnant, but then again, Izuku was a prime alpha, he was more fertile than normal alphas.

While they were trying, Izuku would already start to enlarge the cottage, they would need extra space.

Kieran was away for most of the summer, he was constantly with his new friends, and he would only come back for the night, Lucia couldn't believe that her shy son was now so outgoing. She was overjoyed every time he told her about his day.

Izuku thought about getting a normal job, he knew that, when they had another mouth to feed, the money they made with the farm wouldn't be enough. And now that he was super efficient with blackwhip he could actually afford to stay away from the cottage longer. So he looked around what jobs there were.

To his surprise, they looked for heroes. Izuku hesitated at first, while in Thailand, he had finished his school education, but of course, he never finished his hero training. But he applied anyway and to his shock, he was accepted.

Heroes in Ireland were a bit different from those in Japan. Policemen, Fire Fighters, paramedics, and other rescue workers were all considered heroes. Any job that was about helping people was considered a heroic job. And since anyone could use their job here, you only needed the specific training for any of the jobs.

Since Izuku had experience in rescue training and police work, he got the job fairly easily. He was mostly for rescue operations and as a firefighter employed. His help was greatly appreciated, blackwhip came in handy in most of the rescue missions.

Izuku was very happy, that he could finally help people again. He had missed it, and he was glad that this didn't go hand in hand with killing people or seeing people get killed.

Lucia smiled happily when Izuku came home and told her how his day went. He beamed in excitement.

It was the end of November when Lucia felt a shift, she immediately went to the doctor to make a test, since normal pregnancy tests wouldn't show accurate results yet.

Much to her joy, she was actually pregnant. She couldn't wait to tell Izuku the news!

Izuku was still at work and so she got time to prepare dinner, she was humming joyfully while cooking, Sorch and Oisín were around her and kept her company. She made sure to give them extra treats today.

Then finally Izuku came back, Kieran in tow. Both were surprised to see the feast that she had cooked.

"Oh my, what is that for?" Izuku asked, he was in awe.

"Well, I have good news!" Lucia beamed. Izuku gasped when he saw her wide smile. "I'm pregnant!"

Izuku couldn't believe it for a second. It was Kieran who reacted first. "Ohh! I'm getting a sibling?"

"Yes! We're going to have a baby!" She rocked up and down a little in absolute joy and excitement.

With the biggest smile in the world Izuku walked over to his wife and hugged her, he gave her a few kisses. "I am so happy! You have no idea just how happy I am!"

"Oh, I think I got a pretty good idea" she chuckled.

Kieran hugged both his parents. "I'm happy too! I get a new baby sibling!" he giggled.

They sat eventually down to eat the food. It tasted absolutely great.

They waited to tell Inko until Christmas. They exchanged presents and eventually, they told her too. Inko gasped in surprise. "Oh my god! This is wonderful news!" She had tears in her eyes. "My baby will have his own baby soon! Ooooh," she cried a whole river out of pure excitement.

Yeah, it was a good Christmas, he texted Kairi and Ian that he was going to be a father, they sent their congratulations to him.

Ian also mentioned that Katsuki had asked for him, but Izuku didn't reply to that, he just couldn't, he felt guilt bubble up in him, but he wanted to ignore that for now, he didn't want to spoil his Christmas.